“Brethren, my heart’s desire and prayer to God for Israel is that they might be saved.” – Romans 10:1

Syndicated columnist Cal Thomas gives below a radical solution to Israel’s dilemma. His suggestion — the eviction of Palestinians to neighboring Arab states — has been posed for years by conservative Israelis, but continues to be rejected. We would like to poll our readership about his ideas. Keep in mind that while Israel is a democracy, its Arab minority is literally claiming the State of Israel for itself. Send us your thoughts and please mark your envelope “Eviction.” — Zola

Eviction is a Better Way to Peace, Stability

By Cal Thomas
Columnist, Los Angeles Times

...Enough of the excuses for Yasser Arafat’s behavior. His condemnations of terror mean nothing because he and his cohorts are behind it. Terror is an instrument of their policy.

Israeli soldiers on guard outside offices of Moslem religious authority.

When former Israeli Prime Minister Ehud Barak offered to meet 95 percent of Arafat’s demands, it wasn’t enough. When the current Prime Minister, Ariel Sharon, unilaterally declared a cease-fire in response to PA shelling of Israeli civilians in late May, the violence continued. People who claim that the Israeli “settlements” in formerly Palestinian territory are responsible for the violence must explain what caused the violence before the “settlements” started to appear.

The response from Sharon’s government to the latest bombing should be swift and strong. Since nothing Israel does or does not do will persuade Yasser Arafat to make peace or dissuade him from making war, Israel should declare war on Arafat and his terrorist brigade. The assaults on the PA military and terrorist positions should be total and relentless. Call it a war of attrition until Arafat has had enough and takes concrete, irreversible steps to stop the violence.

It should now be clear that Israel cannot tolerate a huge Arab population within its borders, so a political decision must be made. Most Arabs and Palestinians appear to be nonviolent but it can be difficult to tell the difference. As Middle East analyst Emanuel Winston (a research associate of the Freeman Center for Strategic Studies in Houston) notes in a recent article: “The terrorists sometimes come in with workers, or the Arab community offers safe houses in Israel to protect the terrorist.”

The Jews have misplaced their faith. Gifted with thinking the best about human potential, Jews have made decisions that too often are not in their interest — such as allowing mortal enemies to live among them and giving up land seized for their own protection after five wars and numerous terrorist attacks.

Israel should declare its intention to transfer large numbers of its Palestinian residents to Arab nations. This sounds radical until one considers that is precisely what Kuwait and Saudi Arabia have done. After the Palestinians assisted Saddam Hussein in Iraq’s invasion of Kuwait during the Gulf War (which Arafat cheered while calling on Hussein to shell Israel), Kuwait forcibly evicted and transferred to Jordan about 300,000 Palestinians, labeling them as traitors and a fifth column. Saudi Arabia also recognized Arafat’s betrayal of their Kuwaiti hosts by

(3 videocassettes)

An insightful look at the heroes of the eleventh chapter of Hebrews. “Without faith it is impossible to please God, because anyone who comes to Him must believe that He exists and that He rewards those who earnestly seek Him” (Hebrews 11:6).

Shot on location in Israel and inspired by the “Faith Hall of Fame,” this 11-program television series explores not only the characters, but teaches unique aspects of their testimony to give us insight into and instruction about the development of faith. Modern-day believers, both Jewish and Gentile, are interviewed and give witness to a faith that builds the foundation for not only lives that overcome in spite of adversity, but overcoming lives.

Worship — Abel. The program begins with Zola’s overview of Hebrews 11, studying faith as reflected in the characters of this great chapter. The first character in our Champions of Faith series is Abel. We study his worship and “right” sacrifice to the Lord. Believers from a Messianic congregation in Israel discuss how worship has influenced their walk of faith.

Relationship — Enoch. The life and translation of Enoch is the second lesson in our in-depth look at faith. One of only two men in the Bible who did not experience death, Enoch’s life shows how faith establishes and deepens our relationship with God.

Work — Noah. Zola teaches about the days of Noah and his faithful work over 99 years while building an ark for the salvation of his household. As Noah’s life illustrates, service and work are the best examples of faith.

Acceptance — Abraham & Sarah. While the history of Abraham and Sarah are well known, Zola examines the aspect of their faith that enabled them to accept the unbelievable promises of God. Present-day believers discuss their sacrificial faith in the face of adversity.

Blessing — Isaac. The fifth program examines Isaac, the son of Abraham. The faith of Isaac testifies to being certain of what we do not see — things hoped for. Zola discusses the meaning of an inheritance from the Lord that He has given to the priesthood of believers.

Endurance — Moses. From the wilderness location of Wadi Kelt in the Judean Desert, Zola speaks on the great deliverer Moses. Inspired by hope in God’s promises, modern-day believers tell of endurance and strength supplied by the Perfecter of our faith.

Belief — Joshua & Rahab. Zola looks at how the lives of Joshua and Rahab show a special knowledge of and faith in the power of the living God. An interview with a survivor of the Holocaust gives testimony to the faith and belief that enable God’s people.

Courage — Gideon & David. Courage shown through the lives of the heroes Gideon and David is our focus in this segment. With the Lord as helper and shield, a modern-day couple discusses how they have courageously dealt with overwhelming circumstances.

Suffering — Paul. Suffering puts faith to the test. Zola teaches with fresh insight about the life and trials of Paul, showing parallels with the life of Christ — the Suffering Servant. Believers give testimony as to how the Lord has enabled them to overcome an uncertain future through faith.

Martyrdom — Stephen. On location overlooking Jerusalem, Zola examines the life of Stephen, the first martyr. From the Crusades to the Holocaust and the current persecution of Christians in Third World countries, the cost of being one of God’s chosen is discussed.

Music Program. Beautiful footage of the Holy Land accompanied by Zola’s music, especially composed for the Champions of Faith series, creates the perfect background for the heroes of the eleventh chapter of Hebrews.

Champions of Faith music audiocassette

Imagine music that brings to life mainstay Bible characters such as Abel, Enoch and Noah. Get ready to exclaim “Praise God!” and become a champion of faith as you listen to songs including “The Great I Am,” “A Night with Abraham” and “Righteous Gentile.”

Here's an insightful and practical article that is equally applicable to the Church as it is to Jews in general. — Zola

Seven Ways You Can Help Israel

By Michael Freund,
The Jerusalem Post

For many Jews around the world, one of the most frustrating aspects of the current violence in Israel is the seeming inability to do something about the situation. Dazed by daily reports of terror, concerned Jews are largely at a loss as to how they can help, even in some small way, during this difficult period.

Such feelings are entirely understandable, for one often gets the sense that no matter what Israel seems to do, its predicament only grows worse. But such thinking is neither productive nor beneficial, because the last thing the Jewish people need right now is despair. Instead, we must all focus our energies on doing what we can to lift Israel's spirits and help it contend with an increasingly volatile and uncertain situation. Though far from revolutionary, here are some simple and practical suggestions as to what you can do to help. They are what I refer to as the "Seven 'P's" of Jewish activism:

Point and Click — The first task is to better educate ourselves and our communities about events in Israel. The Internet provides a range of useful sources for getting a more accurate picture of what is really happening in the Jewish state.

A few useful sites are: the Jerusalem Post — www.jpost.com, Arutz-7 — www.israelnationalnews.com, and IMRA — www.imra.org.il. Visit such sites and recommend them to friends — you will be amazed at how people's eyes can be opened when they start to get the real picture about what is going on.

Publish Your Views — Once you have a better grasp of the facts, don't hesitate to speak out. No Jewish organization or Israeli consulate can fight the propaganda war on every front, so don't assume that they will. Pick up your pen, or your keyboard, and start writing. Whether it is a letter to the editor of your local newspaper, or an ongoing dialogue in a chat room, you never know how your contribution may affect someone else's views. Share your success stories with others, and turn yourself and your friends into roving ambassadors on Israel's behalf.

Protest Media Bias — The mainstream media is replete with anti-Israel bias and sloppy reporting. Don't let them get away with it. If you see something that offends you, let the editor know, tersely and politely. For resources and ideas on combating media bias, check out:

Honest Reporting — www.honestreporting.com,
CAMERA — www.camera.org and CNN-Watch — www.cnnwatch.org.

Provide Assistance — If you are able to provide financial support, there are many worthwhile organizations working to address the problems caused by the intifada. The Israel Crisis Management Center, based in Tel Aviv (phone: 972-3-544-5161), assists new immigrants who have been victimized by terrorist attacks, including the families of those killed in the Tel Aviv disco bombing, with grants, loans and volunteer counseling. A group called Helping Israel — www.helpingisrael.com, has an extensive list of medical and security supplies required by Jewish communities that have borne the brunt of the Palestinian violence, such as those in Judea, Samaria and Gaza. Sending money, even in small sums, is a tangible and meaningful way of demonstrating your support. Editor's Note: The Bridges for Peace Ezra Projects give Christians an excellent way to help the needy in Israel — [www.bridgesforpeace.com.]

Pressure Representatives — Wherever you live, your views as a citizen need to be heard by your elected representatives. In many instances, American congressional offices keep tabs on the quantity of mail they receive on particular issues as a way of measuring their relative importance to their constituency. Find out who your elected officials are and urge them to publicly express their support for Israel during these difficult times.

Pay a Visit — The recent flap over the cancellation of Israel summer programs had a sharply negative impact on relations between Israel and the Diaspora. There is no better way to demonstrate your solidarity than by boarding a plane and paying a visit to the Holy Land. Yasser Arafat needs to know that he cannot succeed in scaring Jews away, and your visit will help to send him that message.

Pray for Help — The Jewish people have always turned to their Father in Heaven as a source of strength and support. No prayer goes to waste, and regardless of your level of observance, consider adding a request for Israel to your regular (or even irregular) prayer regimen. Whether in the privacy of your home or on the pews of your local synagogue, make the crisis in Israel the focus of your thoughts.

To the Jew First Fund

You read about our "Two Witnesses to Israel" in our May and June Levitt Letters. Todd Baker and Kevin Parker are ready to return and you can be a part in what many churches haven't done: sending missionaries to Israel. Todd and Kevin don't ride motor coaches and see the sights. They hit the streets and witness face-to-face. If you wish to help cover their airfare, hotel and food expenses, please designate a gift to Zola's "To the Jew First" fund.

Israel Bonds

Prime Minister Ariel Sharon says that "Purchasing an Israel bond shows your solidarity and helps finance the future of the Jewish State. More than just a good investment, it allows us to invest in critical infrastructure projects." By purchasing a bond, you become a partner in building the Jewish state. Sharon adds, "It is not just a financial transaction, but a pledge of devotion. I call upon you, at this critical hour, to buy an Israel bond and come here to visit and see the wonderful fruits of your investment."

A Note From Mark

Before he bought it, my father Zola's house inspired no interest during the two years it sat on the market. The previous owners were caterers who loved to entertain enough that they eliminated the backyard by constructing a den over it big enough to accommodate three large dining tables. Oddly enough, the master bedroom and bathroom windows look into the den. Zola has overcome some of the house's functional obsolescence by cutting a passageway from the den closet to the master bedroom.

Zola has eight years left on his mortgage, but the house has paid for itself as far as this ministry is concerned. That large room, you see, is our television studio. For years we have saved thousands of dollars per program by having a free place to set up lights, cameras, etc. While the bulk of our programs are filmed onsite in Israel, we tape all of our introductions and closings in this room. In addition, Zola's attic stores dozens of boxes of ministry records for which our new office doesn't have space. By opening his home to this ministry's needs, Zola is probably our largest donor.

When office space became more expensive a couple of years ago, we moved. In north Dallas, our office sits between Fellowship Bible Church, Centennial Liquor and Condoms to Go. After two break-ins this year, we have added a security system and video surveillance. We have no regrets because, so far, the savings over our old location have been enough to pay for a whole television series.

Twenty-seven years ago, I ran my lawn mowing business out of our family's tin shack, which we called the Temporary Building. I was fourteen years old. In the front section that was carpeted, my father personally typed manuscripts for his first twenty books on a manual typewriter. As I invested in an edger, hedge trimmer and chain saw, Zola added a heater and hired a secretary. When I went to college, he made his television debut. When I started working, he went on his first national television network. Now that he is 62 and I am 41, the ministry celebrated its 22nd birthday on May 17.

The objectives from last year's two-part "State of the Ministry" article have been somewhat sidetracked while God has dropped unexpected blessings in our laps.

For example, it was unforeseeable last December that in April we would send two fully-sponsored missionaries to Israel to witness to Jews. God did this; Zola and I didn't. Instead, we watched.

Sometimes ministry is a spectator sport: "let go & let God." Our first Israel mission trip happened in such a way that I would have had to defy God to stop it. Now we are planning another one for September. Humbled again, I rejoice. If you wish to be a part of this, you are welcome to designate contributions to our "To the Jew First" fund.

Our new Internet radio outreach involved no more than nudging a struggling ministry to "Napster" us, putting Zola's best teaching audio-cassettes on the Internet for free listening, available like "Zola on Internet TV" at www.levitt.com. I went to business school at the University of Texas. It would sully their reputation if I claimed they taught me to give free access to materials I also try to market. Of course, what makes sense spiritually isn't always rational in our temporal existence.

Regarding other objectives, we have yet to reawaken certain major seminaries to the importance of Israel and prophecy. We are seeing more people get high-speed Internet connections and enjoy our online broadcasts. Our approach to overseas expansion has yet to yield very much, but God's certainly has. We could have claimed false victories by paying a foreign syndicator to place our program in Africa and South America and omitting such details as how few there have television sets, are literate enough to understand our teaching, or even have an appetite for it. We would rather be good stewards than claim triumphs that merely sound impressive.

God, however, delivered us free propositions better than those we pursued. The Revival Channel broadcasts Zola Levitt Presents on the Sirrus II Satellite, serving 58 European cities, plus Syria, Lebanon, Israel, Russia, Turkey, southern Scandinavia, north Africa and western Ireland. In Canada, CJIL-TV, The Miracle Channel, has expanded from carrying our program in southern Alberta to two direct-to-home digital systems and on about 600 cable systems, giving them an audience of almost seven million.

Associated Press' Biased Reports Make Jews Look Barbarous

By Julie Morin, Arizona Daily Sun, letter to the editor

Must we be subjected each day to the Associated Press version of events in the Middle East? Every day another headline intimates Israeli oppression of Palestinians, with the usual picture of Palestinian strife.

One has to read to the end of the article to find perhaps one line devoted to Palestinian violence as the cause of the incident, and there is never a photograph of this aggression nor a picture of Israeli injuries.

Palestinian terrorists are referred to as "protesters." This is not much different from the pre-World War II European media blitz in which the Jews were presented as oppressors of poor working people. The AP is using the age-old technique of making the Jews look barbarous to disguise aggression against them.

I would think your paper could do a better job of presenting the whole story.

This is just one more example of slanted reporting coming from the mainstream media. Another AP article recently was headlined: "Hope For Peace Fades as Israelis Attack Again." Interestingly, above the article was a photograph of two Palestinian children holding plastic rifles and wearing fake explosives strapped to their waists! But the AP is just one of many news outlets doing this. I stopped taking the New York Times some two or three years ago for just these reasons. Now, that respected newspaper, invariably critical of Israel, will endure a boycott among its considerable Jewish readership for ten days in September. In surprising contrast, USA Today, nominally favorable to Israel in its reporting, printed a story which was headlined, "Israel Retaliates for Suicide Bomb Attack," acknowledging, albeit in subtle terms, that Israel was the victim of terror. — Zola

Evangelist Pat Robertson Defends Direct Hit Policy

Excerpts from Christian Friends of Israel News

Christian Coalition founder Pat Robertson has come out in support of Israel's policy of targeted killings [of terrorists]. "I am absolutely in support of an Israeli policy that says, we think surgical strikes of a military nature against the architects of terror are more appropriate than harming innocent civilians who are not responsible for the terror," Robertson told a news conference here in Jerusalem.

Robertson upbraided the U.S. and other countries for criticizing Israel. "Nations of the world must understand that Israel is not a ward of the United Nations and is not a ward of the United States, and its policies must reflect the best interests of Israel," he said.

The Christian leader, who heads a business and broadcast empire, blamed Yasser Arafat for the violence. Robertson said he interviewed Arafat twice in the past and found that while he talks of peace in English, he urges his people in Arabic to fight to destroy the Jewish state. "He no longer should be considered a legitimate partner for Israel... It is incumbent on them [the Palestinians] to choose a leader who is responsible and not dedicated to terror."

He also said American Christians should visit Israel. "They should be encouraged to not allow terror to succeed by choking off...tourism," he said. "It's probably no more dangerous to be in Jerusalem than it is to be in New York City." Robertson noted that he was touring Israel with his wife, a "statement to the American Christian community that it is safe in Israel to come and visit the holy sites and to travel in this nation."

Ambassador Indyk: Arafat Never Foreswore Violence

The Jerusalem Post

Outgoing U.S. Ambassador to Israel Martin Indyk said yesterday he does not believe Palestinian Authority Chairman Yasser Arafat "ever really gave up violence as a tool to achieving his objectives."

Indyk, who will be leaving his post next week after finishing up his second stint here as ambassador, said he does not believe Arafat "was sincere" when he renounced the use of violence as a prelude to the Oslo Accords.

transferring about 350,000 Palestinians to Jordan.

Those diplomats who regularly denounce Israel for any perceived slight against Palestinians were noticeably silent about these transfers. As Emanuel Winston writes in another commentary: "No Arab country, other than Jordan, trusts or welcomes Palestinians into its country as citizens. Even the radical Arab nations of Syria (and) Lebanon (under Syrian control), Iraq and Iran keep them segregated in squalid refugee camps, knowing full well their reputation for breaking agreements and conspiring against their host government."

How quickly we forget "Black September" in 1970. Arafat tried to overthrow King Hussein of Jordan. Hussein killed thousands and drove Arafat and his Palestinians into Lebanon. Arafat, who had broken numerous agreements by then, began a 12-year reign of terror against Christian and Muslim Lebanese. More than 100,000 Lebanese were murdered, raped and tortured by Arafat's Palestinians.

The current model of "land for peace" is not working, nor can it work given the objectives of Arafat and Israel's other enemies. Eviction is a better avenue to stability. Will it happen? Probably not. Should it? Yes. ■

Here's an opposing view by a Catholic priest to Cal Thomas' proposal to evict the Palestinians.

FATHER DENNIS MURPHY
WINONA DAILY NEWS, LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Every time you print a column by Cal Thomas on the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, I hope that soon after I might read an editorial providing the Palestinian view. But I am still waiting.

On June 6, you published an editorial by Thomas suggesting that large numbers of Palestinians be evicted from the Holy Land since the Palestinians hadn't accepted the generous peace proposals by Barak and in fact were conducting a "continuing strategy to exterminate Israel and eliminate every Jew from the area."

In the mid-80s, I taught Palestinian students for three years at Bethlehem

University in Bethlehem, which was then militarily occupied by Israel. On a daily basis, I saw the terrible injustices that the Palestinians suffered at the hands of the Israeli troops. And this has been taking place for decades.

It is no wonder, then, that things would come to a head in the first Intifada and that a more violent Intifada might ensue once it was evident that there would be no peace.

How unfortunate for Father Murphy to use language which supports "a more violent Intifada" waged by the Palestinians. There is no peace because Arafat and the Palestinians have as their primary objective the extermination of every Jew from the Land. Certainly, a learned professor living three years in Israel should have studied enough to discover that the Palestinians do not want peace with Israel, but rather insist on a peace void of any Jewish presence whatsoever. As far as Father Murphy not finding the "Palestinian view" in the news, I'm not sure how he could miss it every day in the mainstream media! — Zola

Letters to Zola

Dear Pastor Zola:

How much I enjoyed your contribution to the prophecy conference in Modesto, California recently. Your ministry was like a breath of fresh air, fresh truth, and general good humor. Thank you especially for the precious prayers you prayed in Hebrew over us. I sensed the blessing of the Father both as you prayed and taught.

over what the stations and companies do with programming and airtimes. But I am encouraged that you've taped all our programs since 1988! May God bless you for your desire to know Him and His Word! — Zola

"Asleep at the wheel"

SVW

Dear Zola:

"For Zion's Sake"

If I could be more than 100% behind you, I would....

I finally got to watch the "For Zion's Sake, I Will Not Keep Silent" video last night. Just want to comment on your little test on where the articles you read were from — the answer being Christianity Today. I mentioned to my wife that sadly, what was written in Christianity Today is what passes off as Christianity today....

Keep up the good work.... Wish I could afford to go to Israel with you.... Wish I could send you more financial support.... Father God has given a heart for Jews and Jewish things.... I love you and appreciate the fact that it was Jews who first brought the Good News to Gentiles. It seems that mostly all I received from Gentile preachers is milk. I get my "meat" (not pork) from reading Jewish writings.

RL

Dear Zola:

Well, they did it, and I'm fuming! I've feared it would happen for a long time. I missed your program this morning, because TBN has been dropped by our new cable company — Comcast. I'll check the website www.levitt.com when I get a chance, but I tell you, I'm very upset. I am thankful that I've taped all your programs....since I first purchased my VCR in 1988.

JE

Dear JE:

I lament with you about your cable company not wanting to continue this kind of Christian programming in your area. Please know that we don't have any control

Dear Zola:

I am writing a short note to let you know that it is my belief your ministry is helping and reaching many people of all nationalities and religions to come to the truth. Please do not get discouraged! Thank you for the insight of your teachings as they very well tie in the Jewish roots of Christianity. Sadly, many ministries could be asleep at the wheel in these end times. I am convinced yours is not! Keep up the insightful and redeeming work you are doing on behalf of our Lord!

DS

Dear DS:

Sadly, I believe many are indeed "asleep at the wheel" in these days as I observe countless organizations adrift from our prime directive from the Lord — the evangelism of the lost and the thorough teaching of God's Word! It's because of attitudes like yours that we keep going. — Zola

Passing it on

Dear Zola:

I feel that through your newsletters I have received a spiritual education and a spirit of discernment between what is right, true doctrine and what is false. When I receive your letters I read them through immediately. I am a Gentile Christian and I have a Jewish associate who has just received Jesus as Messiah and Savior. I pass your letters along to him and he is learning so much and finding out how to witness to his unsaved family.

"Anyone who has the Spirit of God will love Israel!"

Dear, dear Zola:

I know your frustration is great regarding "church-ianity." I just wanted to remind you that Scripture is spiritually discerned. In 1 Corinthians 2, Paul says in vs. 10, "But God has revealed it to us by His Spirit. The Spirit searches all things, even the deep things of God. For who among men knows the thoughts of a man except the man's spirit within him? In the same way no one knows the thoughts of God except the Spirit of God."... vs. 14, "The man without the Spirit does not accept the things that come from the Spirit of God, for they are foolishness to him, and he cannot understand them, because they are spiritually discerned." (NIV)

In chapter 3 Paul makes this statement, "Brothers, I could not address you as spiritual but as worldly — mere infants in Christ."

Anyone who has the Spirit of God will love Israel! And to quote you, "And that's all there is to that." — CJE

Dear Zola:

We love you, your TV program, your website, your letters, and we always pray for the peace of Jerusalem. Thank you for being faithful during these times.

We see all the signs around us and we don't expect anything good from the media or this world system. But, we believe that prayer changes things and the hearts of men. God bless you and keep you always. We will be sending something soon. And, again, thank you for being the voice of truth in a time such as this.

TFF

Dear TFF:

The Bible tells us that this world system will continue to grow worse until His glorious appearing, when He will set things right. Isn't it humbling to know that He desires to use us as His instruments to accomplish eternal work? Prayer changes things and by God's great grace, we will continue to be His voice of truth!

— Zola

Dear Zola:

I would like to thank you for your very informative TV show. My husband and I watch it every Sunday evening. We really enjoyed the Passover show; we have a group of good friends that we celebrate the Passover dinner every year with. It was nice to learn more about this lovely tradition. I also teach a 3rd-grade religious class and I am always looking for more info to pass on to them. Thank you for your loving work you do on your show.

"I, of course, cannot agree with your philosophy."

Dear Reverend Levitt:

As an Orthodox Jew, I, of course, cannot agree with your philosophy. But I also appreciate your love of and your concern for our beloved Israel. May the Lord God of Israel bless you and keep you. May He cause His Countenance to shine upon you and be gracious unto you and may He grant you lasting peace.

CS

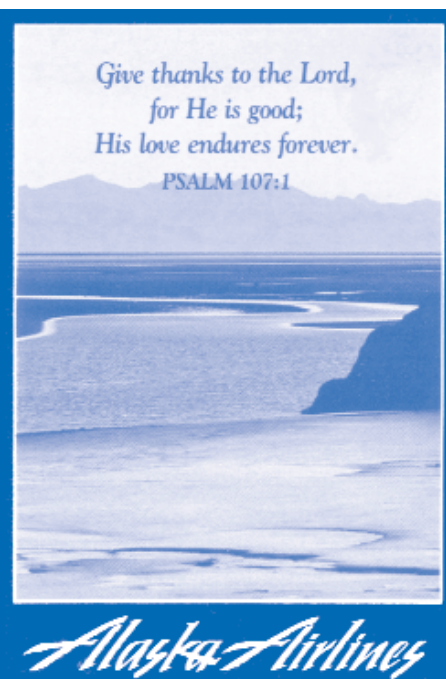

Dear CS:

Thank you for taking time to write. Please know that my views are not a "philosophy," but rather the result of an ardent faith in the inspired Word of God — the Tenach and Brit haDasha, the Scriptures. They both teach God's enduring love for Israel. And special thanks for your wonderful blessing!

This card arrived along with Zola's lunch on a recent flight.

Dear Zola:

My mom has received your letters and books for many years. She has also given to your ministries for many years. She is now very ill and bedridden and asks for your prayers. She asked me to let you know how much she enjoys all parts of your ministries.

GW

Dear GW:

God bless you for contacting us! Please know that it is the faithful prayers and support from folks like your mom that keep the Lord's work going. Let her know that she is prayed for on this end.

“Please don't tell anyone.”

Mr. Levitt:

Shalom! My father, mother, three sisters, four of my brother's children, and I had the wonderful privilege of traveling to Israel on our own tour (May 28-June 7). As someone who has been there and seen it, I want to tell you just how dangerous it was while we were there.

Just a few days before departing from Sacramento, my sister and I stopped at a fast food restaurant in Redding, California. A man muttered something to me. A few minutes later he jumped up and walked over to an older man and poured his Pepsi on him, grabbed his glasses, and punched him in the nose. The poor old man immediately had blood all over his face. The criminal escaped. The police were called. We waited...twenty minutes, and they never got there.

In Jerusalem, little children freely walked and played in the streets. Two small vendors were selling nuts “for one shekel.”

We were walking through the Arab markets in Jerusalem just as news broke out that a Palestinian leader had died of a heart attack. A member of the PLO ran through the streets shouting that all stores must close to observe his death. Arguments exploded as Arab shopkeepers were not willing to close and lose any business.

As we were staying peacefully in Israel, family and friends back in the States were soaking [in] the media's stories; they were worried and scared for us.

Here's a summary of our tour there: From crawling in tunnels, to seeing the panoramic view at Mt. Carmel; from strolling along the quiet streets in the Jewish quarter, to rafting down the Jordan River; from riding a boat on the Sea of Galilee, and a camel ride at the Dead Sea, to...flying a light aircraft from Tel Aviv to Haifa and back; from watching joyous Bar Mitzvahs at the Western Wall, to riding the cable car to Masada; from excavating an archaeological dig (and finding a museum piece) to visiting a world-renowned violin maker; from meeting the famous Christian Holocaust survivor Zvi, to visiting the Temple Institute...it was a busy and exciting trip for all of us.

I'm looking forward to going again if the opportunity should arise. But PLEASE don't tell anyone, because I enjoy having Israel to myself.

DM

Dear DM:

What a contrast! Violence in California, arguments exploding in the Arab communities, but peaceful touring in Israel! You are one of literally millions who have enjoyed the safety and peace that a tour to Israel can assure. Now you know the truth firsthand, but I can't let you keep it to yourself! Other brothers and sisters should also enjoy the Land as you have!

— Zola

Dear Zola:

...I really don't understand why Christians would be afraid to go to Israel. Your ministry plus many others... state explicitly that it is safe.... You know as Christians we are to be free from fear — 2 Timothy 1:7. Evidently, the secular media has more weight in what many Christians want to hear and believe than true Bible-based Christians are willing to report. As Christians we have the privilege and right to go directly to the “Throne Room of God” and ask Him if it is safe to travel and tour Israel or any place else. He would definitely tell His people whether to go or not and the right time to go....

Perhaps the national tourism agency/department in Israel could do a research study specifically on Christian tours to Israel regarding the various harmful incidents (if there have been any) while in Israel for the past 5-10 years. For example, what were the incidents, where did they occur, how often did they occur, reason for the incident, the outcome of the people involved, etc. The various travel agencies and the U.S. and Israel governments, along with other agencies connected to tourism, would have the information so it should not be too difficult to compile a report. Also, a survey could be sent to various groups that have previously toured Israel asking them regarding the safety of their tour. The results could be put on an Internet web site for easy access. Once the results are available, there could be an all-out promotional marketing campaign through Christian-based tourism agencies, ministries, churches, etc., promoting the true safety of traveling and touring in Israel.... DS

Dear DS:

“No member of a tour has ever been injured.”

A research study is not necessary. No member of a tour to Israel has ever been injured. The Palestinian terrorists are professional killers and know exactly whom to murder. They would never touch an American tourist for fear of losing American support for their cause. Check out the website www.goisrael.com for more details.

— Zola

Dear Zola and Tony:

...I was one of the members of your recent trip to Israel and just want you to know that many of my previous ideas about Israel were incorrect.

What a beautiful country — more flowers and trees than in my own state. You can see that the Jewish people are proud of their country.... — BO

Dear Sir,

“You should be stopped...”

I’ve just come into possession of the issue 5 volume 23 of [the] Levitt Letter and let me be frank when I say I’ve never seen so much Jewish bull in my life. I take that back... I’ve read a lot of Jewish lies and propaganda about the so-called Holocaust of W.W. III! But that’s another issue altogether. What I want to talk about now is... your lies and misleading information about how the majority of American Christians are behind Israel. False!!! I’m an American Christian and I for one am not behind anything Israel has ever done; in fact, I don’t know anyone who is pro-Israel. How can you be behind someone who shoots Palestinian kids from 200 yards away? And then they brag about it! These people are parasites who need to be stopped. And you, sir, should be stopped from printing such lies! I’m also sick of every time someone doesn’t agree with what the Jews have to say... They’re called anti-Semitic. Get a life! You people have capitalized on your suffering long enough. Get over it, and save some tears for the children! — C

Dear Zola:

What part of Jesus declaring that the generation He actually was speaking to would be destroyed because of their refusing their Messiah don’t you understand? Why do you, Mr. Levitt, try to “look” like a Jew? They HATE Christ, what is your point? Jerusalem? Is there a place on the map that hates Jesus more than they do? NO. God didn’t say He’d spank them, He said He’d DESTROY them; and then DID. In AD 70. Look it up. Are you a Jew or a Christian? Make up your mind, for Pete’s sake. Your Jew act is ridiculous. And also totally unbiblical. — RW

If you are really believers, I can only warn you that your first act in heaven will be a face-to-face interview with the King of the Jews. — Zola

Hebraic Insight

The human intellect relies upon “understanding” to discern the best course for the future. In this verse, the word used for “understanding” (bināh) derives from a word that refers to the idea of “interval,” or “space between” (bayin). The word suggests, then, that intellectual understanding involves a sense of discrimination or discernment between things — usually in terms of temporal sequences and logical connections. The attitude of trust, on the other hand, refers to a self-consciously chosen inner disposition of the heart (lev or inmost self) that passionately depends upon the ability and grace of God to guide one in relation to the temporal sequences and connections of life. Trust involves the whole person and is manifest as an inner act of will that believes God for the future fulfillment of hope. Human understanding attempts to predict, anticipate, and infer relationships between events, but we are to trust in the Lord with all of our heart. Only God can adequately discern our future path and lead us into the victory of faith.

Dear Brother Zola:

Enclosed find a copy of [the] Declaration of Israel's Independence, which refers to Palestine nine times. As I remember, you state often there was no Palestine. Maybe I'm wrong? — LL

Dear LL:

Historians and political powers have used the term "Palestine" for centuries, and at the time of Israel's declaration of independence, the Israelis referred to their geopolitical area as such. There is not, however, a "Palestinian people," as Arafat and the Arabs attempt to call themselves. There is no such indigenous Arab culture or race by that name. What Arafat, an Egyptian, has done is simply use the temporary geographical term of "Palestine" as a label for his illegitimate claim to ownership of the State of Israel, that land which God deeded to one people — the descendants of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob! — Zola

Hi, Zola and staff:

Did you ever consider the fact that after the rapture the Church is gone, [and] all that is left here are unbelievers, Jews and Gentiles? Who are the believers saved in the tribulation? Mainly the Jews, like coming out of Egypt, with the Gentile remnant. When the Church returns with Christ, in their spiritual bodies, who is going to re-populate the world with their human bodies? That is right. Only the Jews can! The millennium world will be Jewish! Ask Moody, how do they like them apples?

One thing that you say that I don't fully understand is this: Pray for the peace of Jerusalem. True peace only comes to Jerusalem only with the return of the Messiah.

RM

Dear RM:

Prophecy or profits

I'm not sure Moody would recognize "them apples" at all anymore. Their concern with End Times prophecy has long since disappeared. After all, teaching that the End is near discourages prosperous donors from giving big checks for buildings and banks. Each seminary must choose between prophecy and profits! Moody seems to subscribe to the adage, "An apple a day keeps the donors away."

But you miss the point of the considerable Gentile salvation in the Tribulation. Our Lord holds a throne of judgment for the nations (goyim, or Gentiles) after the Second Coming (Matt. 25:31-46). Evidently, quite a few are judged to be "sheep." Zechariah references Egypt and other Gentile nations in the kingdom (Zech. 14:16-19).

Regarding our prayers for "the peace of Jerusalem," the psalmist tells us to do so (Psalm 122:6). Whether our prayers cause a small cessation of casualties or simply refer to the return of the Messiah, they're certainly well worth the effort! — Zola

Hello:

I just received your most recent newsletter in the mail and just want to say — keep up the good work. I was particularly interested in the letter from the Greek Orthodox person. I was a member of this church for many years until God opened my eyes. Her letter listed many works that she has done, apparently thinking that would get her into heaven. Her letter was an extremely accurate representation of what the Greek Orthodox doctrine teaches. Your response to her was right on the money. You stated the truth very accurately. All I can say is — keep on speaking the truth. — JB

Dear Zola:

Please comment about the organization called FLAME (San Francisco). They have a full-page ad in U.S. News and World Report.

EM

Dear EM:

I do support FLAME (Facts and Logic About the Middle East) and also another media watch group called CAM-ERA (The Committee for Accuracy in Middle East Reporting in America), along with any other emphatically pro-Israel commentators. Every last one is desperately needed. "Everyone that is of the truth hears my voice." — Zola

Dear Zola:

In my early lifetime I had no idea that there might be Jewish aspects in my genealogy. Although I was aware that Shem's descendants were Jews, my father never mentioned that possibility. He and my mother were devout Christians. They both came from Belarus. I and my sister were born in a Jewish community on the East Side of Manhattan...and our birth certificates show that our births were attended by a Jewish midwife. After I listened to you about your background and how you learned about being a descendant of the Levi tribe, I began a study... of Shem's descendants. I now feel that I, too, am a Jewish Christian.

From these studies, I know that Shem's descendants were scattered throughout Persia (Iran), Turkey, and northern countries like Russia, China, etc. Perhaps my ancestors were among those tribes that went north and haven't been heard of since and in the four hundred generations that have passed since that time they no longer remembered their Jewish heritage. I would like to entreat you to... give me your rabbinical advice on whether or not I'm a Jew.

AMS

Dear AMS:

Whether you are a Jew or not, I cannot say for certain, especially since many of the descendants of Shem that migrated north to the Caspian Sea region probably descended from a lineage different than Abraham's who was the father of the Jews. Our racial reference point as Jews begins with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. You may wish to continue your genealogical research. What I can tell you is that your love for God's Chosen People is a testimony to the love of Christ in your heart. God will bless you when you bless them! — Zola

Hello:

I've been watching and learning from your weekly program along with others. There are many references by various speakers to the Hebrew, Greek, and Roman "translations" of our Bible. I watched a local program today, Christian Viewpoint, Orlando, Florida. I was disturbed to learn that the "Modern Bibles" printed by Rupert Murdock have left out the name of God and other original text. It is said that this was done to gain a broader acceptance and increase the publisher's profit. I know that many will be deceived in the latter days, but each one needs to do all we can to prevent it. My concern is not only for those who are saved, but to make sure the expected Christian revival will be met with God's inspired works and not that of man.

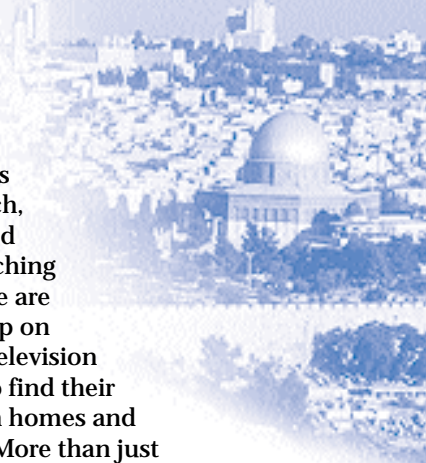

EGH

"Many will be deceived"

Dear EGH:

Your concern is not unfounded. Many will be led astray by "Bibles" of this sort. The key phrase is "to gain a broader acceptance," and that is exactly what we've seen in our most trusted Bible schools and seminaries over the last decade — sliding down a slippery slope theologically in order to broaden acceptance and enhance enrollment! — Zola

Our Levitt Letter has grown from eight to twelve to sixteen pages. In our eagerness to teach more via this important outreach, we have minimized ads about our teaching materials. Now we are seeking to catch up on describing some television series that need to find their way into Christian homes and church libraries. More than just generating sales revenue to cover our production and airtime expenses, these ads will foster home study and disseminate teaching to be discovered by unbelievers after the Rapture — a vital ministry.

The vacation season and faltering economy have added to the challenges we face with increased printing, postage and TV production costs. I am not sounding a red alert or even a yellow one to those of you who regularly support this outreach. To the rest of you, however, who are able, this would be a good time, for your sake as well as ours, to help us cover your share of these financial burdens. To the hundreds of prisoners and thousands of retirees who receive our newsletters, this is no hint that you should quit enjoying our free newsletters. But too many of our supporters have lost track of how long it has been since they have sent a contribution. Merely checking their records will inspire them to catch up with us, and that is all we ask.

It's still not too late to sign up for our September tour. Also remember that we will tour the Holy Land Experience in Orlando, Florida, on Thanksgiving weekend. Please call Tony at (214) 696-9760.

The Holy Land Experience

During the winter months, Zola plans to host several tours to The Holy Land Experience in Orlando, FL. Please let us know whether you would prefer the week-end of Nov. 23 or Nov. 30. If you would like to extend your stay to include the weekdays in between, we plan to guide you to other sites and attractions, along with daily Bible studies with Zola and his staff. For more information, please call Tony at (214) 696-9760 during office hours. You may also call 1-800-WONDERS (966-3377) anytime.

Dear Zola:

I have not said or written a word before this date. Zola, I have been a quiet reader of your commentary for months and I've enjoyed and still enjoy your insights and your rich Biblical commentary.

Zola, enough is enough. We get your point on Dallas Theological Seminary and Moody Bible Institute. Enough is enough!

Zola, move on to something else or at least another Bible college or seminary. You're beating a dead horse now and you should leave it alone. Please, dear brother, move ON! In Jesus' name.

Dear PA:

I hope the "horse" is not dead yet! God forbid that these schools plunge to ruin completely! Despite the fact that we find no positive movement on the part of the seminaries, we continue to hope that exposing doctrinal errors will bring about much-needed reform. This is no minor issue. Jesus stated in Matthew 6:24 that one could not serve both God and money. Our personal knowledge from inside these institutions (DTS and Moody are only representative of other evangelical campuses), as readers can find in our Battles with Seminaries book, compels us to continue working to this end and "for Zion's sake, I cannot keep silent!"
— Zola

Dear Zola:

[In the May Levitt Letter, page 10, you wrote] "And if they failed to bring the message of Christ to the world, it's because NOBODY ever brings it to them." I find this preposterous! How about when Christ was physically in front of the Jews on the cross 2,000 years ago!

[You said] "...they unfortunately are not equipped for DUE TO FAILURES OF THE CHURCH ITSELF" Try this excuse on Judgment Day...yes, that and a million other lame excuses lost souls will give in the pit of hell for eternity.

I can only say I am so VERY disappointed that Zola would blame Christians for the Jews' disbelief in the shed blood of Jesus Christ. This is the first crack in the egg of Zola Levitt Ministries which I have been following for years. I feel not just disappointment but true sorrow for Zola. NB

Dear NB:

When Jesus was there on the cross 2,000 years ago, His example was to witness constantly to the Jews, resulting in the salvation of many. The Church, in fact, would not exist today had it not been for the witness of these Jewish believers! But since the time of the apostles, God's primary instrument for world evangelism — "to the Jew first and also to the Gentiles" — has been the Church. How is the Church's record in winning God's Chosen People to Messiah? Does history shed any light on the Church's treatment of the Jews century after century? The truth is that despite the Church having the "keys to the kingdom," it has often failed to use them to bring the good news to the Jewish people, the very ones through whom Christ was brought into this world! — Zola

Dear Zola:

I just wanted to show you how the Austin newspaper is portraying the current situation in Israel. According to them there is still danger and travelers should avoid this region for the time being. I know that this news is alarming and that you will probably want to cancel your next tour since your current streak of 72 trips without incident would be placed in jeopardy due to the unrest still in the area as reported by all members of the news media. I can't help but think of our first day in Jerusalem as we were on the hills overlooking the city. I feared for my life as you pointed out all of the mortar explosions, machine gun fire, hand grenade bursts, and rocks constantly littering the air.

Thank you again for the time and effort you and your wife put into the tour. It was truly one of the most educational and peaceful journeys I have ever taken.

NG

Dear NG:

Yes, of course it was peaceful while we were there. I'm glad you got a kick out of my joke about the "violence."
— Zola ■

Zola in Your Church

Beginning in late November and into the winter, Zola plans to be in Florida leading groups to the new Holy Land Experience in Orlando. If you know a church that would like to host him when he's going to be "in the neighborhood," they would save considerably on travel expenses. Please contact Lawrence in our office at (214) 696-8844 during office hours.
